Dear AB212 Contacts:

A few AB212 Contacts have asked if AB212 applicants are allowed to use printouts from "WebAdvisor.com" to serve as copies of their transcripts. Unfortunately, "WebAdvisor.com" will not be acceptable for AB212 purposes.

The following can be used to verify an applicant's educational accomplishments:

- Official transcripts
- Copies of official transcripts
- Printout from your college on their official letterhead or stationary
- Printout from your college's official website
- Copy of your Child Development Permit
- Letter from California Commission of Teacher Credentialing that you have submitted and qualify for a Child Development Permit
- Letter from your School District office (school district employees only) that you have submitted and qualify for a Child Development Permit
- Copy of your college degree

If you have questions regarding this policy, or any other AB212 related matter, please contact Maribel Gutierrez at 909-387-8966. Also, refer to www.sbcounty.gov/childnet/AB212.htm for future updates. Thank you.

Sincerely,
